One of our great American values is volunteerism. The civic health of our communities depends on active participation that leads to improving lives. Englewood is fortunate to have an active citizenry who care and participate to make this a great City. I would like to highlight a few of the exciting opportunities to serve in our community.

This fall, Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) of Colorado will start their Mentor 2.0 program at Englewood High School and they will need the help of the community to be successful.

BBBS will match each 10th grader (around 150 students) with a college-educated mentor for four years. The goal of the program is to support each student as they work toward graduation and develop a post-secondary plan. Mentors will work with students on problem-solving, motivation, time management, career exploration and research on post-secondary educational opportunities. The goal is to help each student understand all of their options and create an ambitious, yet achievable plan to take them into a productive future.

Research has proven that students with a one-on-one mentor are more likely to graduate high school, enroll in college and persist to a second year. To learn more about this great program, or to become a mentor, please contact Lance Holly at LH@BigLittleColorado.org.

Besides mentoring youth, there is a robust set of opportunities for volunteering through our Englewood Police Department: Community Relations Office. You can serve through routine Graffiti Paint Outs, the Jeremy Bitner Fallen Officer 5K/10K, host a National Night Out, and initiate a Neighborhood Watch program. To learn about ongoing opportunities, contact our EPD Community Relations Specialist, Toni Arnoldy, at tarnoldy@englewoodco.gov and don’t miss the fun of serving alongside your neighbors.

Finally, mark your calendar for Sept. 8 and our 2018 Day of Service Neighborhood Rehab Project. Volunteers will serve neighbors who have home rehab needs that can be solved by a few volunteers rolling up their sleeves and lending a hand. Each project has been vetted through an application process and oversight of the project will be in place to make it a productive day of service. To participate, register at www.beatool.org for the Englewood sites. Whether you serve through some of the opportunities mentioned above or in your own way — thank you. Your service does make a difference.

As always, please feel free to contact me with further questions or to share your own stories of volunteerism in our community.

On May 28, 2012, Memorial Day, Englewood Police Detective Jeremy Bitner was struck by a drunk driver and killed in the line of duty. Detective Bitner was 39 years old at the time of his death and is survived by a wife and two daughters. He is the only officer in Englewood Police Department’s history to be killed in the line of duty.

Officer Bitner joined the EPD in December 2004 and worked as a patrol officer, a SWAT operator, a field training officer and instructor in the Citizen’s Academy program. In 2005 and 2006, he earned a commendation for disarming a suspect armed with a handgun. Prior to joining the EPD, Detective Bitner served in the Army, and was deployed to Bosnia as part of the Airborne Infantry Division. He was also a deputy sheriff in the Elbert County Sheriff’s Office.

In 2012, the Jeremy Bitner Fallen Officer Fund was established. 2013 saw the first Jeremy Bitner 5K/10K Memorial race take place. The Sk/10k race is now an annual event and raises money to assist families of fallen officers in the state of Colorado. Since its inception, the fund has provided immediate financial assistance to the families of 13 fallen Colorado officers. The memorial also donates annually to Concerns of Police Survivors and Judi’s House.

Jeremy Bitner is remembered as a loving husband, father, son, brother, and friend to many. He is also a reminder that law enforcement officers and first responders are heroes that risk their lives daily to make our communities safer, and we are all in their debt.

A Few Facts and Figures
• 85% of water infrastructure spending occurs at the local level
• Over 50% of residential water is used for outdoor landscaping
• Water conservation and efficiency is the cheapest source of new supply
• In a national survey, 77% of voters didn’t know where their water came from
• In Colorado, approximately 80% of precipitation falls west of the Continental Divide, but 87% of the population lives east of the Continental Divide

People love Colorado, and our staggering population growth is projected to continue, increasing by an additional three million residents – more than 50% of our current population size – by the year 2050. This rate of growth not only impacts our water resources but is compounded by the effects of a changing climate.

What does this mean for Englewood?
As the elected and administrative officials of Englewood prepare to face these growing challenges, we recognize we must be deliberate and thoughtful in our awareness of, and engagement with, the community’s water use and planning into the future. As a community, all of us must proactively care for this critical and beautiful resource. By thinking about our individual water use everyday we care for our state, and our country vis-à-vis the way we use water? By reviewing the multifaceted, fascinating and challenging nature of water use, we advance opportunities for education, advocacy and preservation of this critical resource.

Englewood is an incredible community comprised of neighbors who care about one another. The spirit of selfless service is part of the DNA of our small urban community and it is one of the top things that I hear about when I am out and about in the community speaking with residents and businesses. With all of the change that is happening in Englewood, this is the one element that people do not want to lose; the sense of community and our small town feel.

This issue of the Englewood Citizen focuses on our community of care. I am very excited to highlight residents, businesses, and not-for-profits that work to provide assistance and care to our vulnerable populations and those in need. Inside you will learn about an incredible family dedicated to fostering children and ministering to their neighborhood. You will also have the opportunity to read about Café 180 and Share Good Foods who are both doing great things in Englewood. We have assembled a useful resource guide of churches, non-profits and other organizations that provide service to those in need that I hope you will share with others.

Our community is great because of the wonderful people who live, work and serve one another here. I want to thank you for doing so and helping to create a community that cares. If you are looking for more ways to serve others in Englewood, please consider signing up for the Be A Tool day on September 8. Also, don’t forget to attend Englewood’s Block Party on the same day to celebrate community, check out and support local businesses, and make new friends and connections.

THE JULIA TEMPLE CENTER

How one woman’s determination created a new standard of care in Colorado

Julia Temple turned her own diagnosis of tuberculosis into an opportunity to advance treatment and care for others. Her determined spirit lives on in what is today the Julia Temple Center in Englewood, Colorado.

Named for its founder, the center is designed to care for older individuals living with Alzheimer’s disease or related dementia, and those in need of skilled rehabilitation to return to community living.

The climate is what first brought Temple to Colorado in the early 1900s, who was bedridden for three years with tuberculosis. She used this time to study nursing and rose gardening.

After recovering and finding work at what is now Swedish Medical Center, she saved $750 to build her own house, which she used to care for tuberculosis patients, providing them a home in which to rest and recover.

As the treatment for tuberculosis improved, Julia turned her attention to another population in desperate need: the elderly, and particularly those suffering from what we now call Alzheimer’s disease. Her approach to care was unique, as she offered much more freedom and respect to the residents than what was common practice at the time, treating them with dignity and love.

Julia retired from active nursing in 1958 but continued to reside in the home, visiting with the patients daily and assisting in decorating and planning recreational programs.

The center was officially dedicated and named after her in 1968, and a packet containing the history of her work was sealed into a concrete pillar in the front entrance. It serves as a reminder of what the center stands for and where it came from.

Her philosophy of care lives on in the facility today. It was remodeled in 2012 and continues to serve individuals with Alzheimer’s and dementia—a growing population in need of long-term care—with dignity and respect.

LIVING AN INTEGRATED LIFE

Nathan and Julie Hoag have created exactly what they set out for—an integrated life in Englewood.

“It’s not uncommon to run into someone from our church while walking down the street,” Julie said. “And it’s just what we wanted.”

Their church, The Sacred Grace, is the church Nathan founded in Englewood in 2016, that focuses on service in, and for, its neighborhood.

The couple wanted to live in the community where they work, so they looked hard to find a house in Englewood that could accommodate their ever-expanding family—two daughters and two foster kids.

In the past six years, they have fostered 15 children, for an average placement of four to six months. Once they learned of the need, the decision to foster came easily.

Colorado needs 1,200 more foster homes in the next two years in order to keep up, Julie said, and they realized they could help meet that need.

They balance parenting, work, and service to the community with play—rock climbing, mountain biking, skiing—which at this stage of their lives usually means taking turns while the other stays with the kids.

Their church’s goal is to help the city flourish and to Nathan that occurs when preservation and progress happen at the same time.

“We don’t want it to become something that it’s not or never was,” he said.

Julie’s hope for their kids is similar to their wish for Englewood.

“I hope my kids learn to be accepting and loving toward all,” she said, “and they have the opportunity to do that here.”

Share Good Foods
Location: Over 80 retailers throughout Colorado
Sharegoodfoods.com

When Caren and Brad Nixon and Kim and Mike Scheid joined forces to open Share Good Foods in 2010, their mission was to do just that. Since then, they’ve adopted the tagline “Do Good Things,” and they are succeeding at both.

Share Good Foods is a wholesale food company that brings the scratch kitchen and artisan bakery to the grab-and-go market by delivering fresh food daily. Their customers are mostly businesses that revolve around drinks, and Share Good Foods is the perfect partner to add convenient food options to places like coffee shops, bookstores, bike shops, the children’s museum and even a car dealership. They currently partner with nonprofits looking to offer work-force development programs for things like packaging and labeling their food.

A lot of their customers are social enterprise businesses, also looking to do good things, so they started a quarterly “Do Good Things Dinner,” with the goal of connecting like-minded people. “We don’t have a specific agenda,” Kim said, “Together we can do more.”
I am grateful for Englewood’s hidden gems, the quality small businesses that make our town unique: Cake Crafts, Acres, the Mariposa Market, Steakhouse 10 and Undici, Nixon’s Coffeehouse, Act II Consignment Outlet, Garibaldi Mexican Bistro, Englewood Grand, just to name a few.

– Suzanne Dircksen

We are grateful to all our volunteers that dedicate so many hours to help the City. Our residents give their time to serve on boards and commissions, help run our community and police events and serve in the library and Malley Center. Thank you all. We couldn’t do it without you!

– The City of Englewood

I am grateful for the opportunity to be an involved grandpa for my 6 grand children. Living in Englewood allows me to walk with them to the Oxford and Englewood light rail stations, walk to our wonderful Englewood library, walk to Rotolo, Jason other parks to play, walk to mass at St. Louis parish, walk to the shops on Broadway, participate in Malley happenings and to simply remain grateful that I live in this peaceful community.

DEPARTMENT UPDATE

ALLEY TREE TRIMMING: ACCESSIBILITY & BEAUTIFICATION

You likely just received notification from your trash removal company stating, “We will no longer be able to pick up trash in the alley due to the damage to our vehicles caused by the overgrown trees in the alley.” Though this may not be the exact wording, you have been formally notified of their refusal to enter the alley.

Unfortunately, the frequency of this type of notification is growing in Englewood, as alley access for larger trucks – like trash trucks – and equipment is hindered by overgrown trees.

This issue doesn’t only impact trash collection, but general maintenance as well. City Public Works staff is responsible for maintaining the 332 sections – approximately 37.4 miles – of gravel roadways within the alleys. The equipment required to repair gravel in the alleys is about the same size as a trash truck, and City equipment is experiencing damage due to the overgrowth.

Keep Alleys Accessible with Tree Trimming

Before adjacent property owners receive a formal notification (from the trash supplier or the City), we are asking that residents evaluate the alley for overgrowth of trees and bushes next to private property, and if necessary, trim them up.

Improve Visibility to Help Beautification

With these efforts, the alley corridors will have better visibility, reducing many of the other challenges alleys present, including dumping of various large household items – the City’s number one request for service – with an ultimate goal of truly beautifying the alleys of Englewood.

Take Action

Residents have the opportunity to individually, or collectively with a group of neighbors, adopt an entire alleyway. If interested, please contact the Public Works Department at 303-762-2500. The City may be able to provide some resources to help in these efforts.

The City would like to thank residents in advance for their efforts. If everyone does their part, the entire City benefits.

YOU LIKE IT HERE

The results of the 2018 National Citizen Survey are in, and it’s clear that residents believe the City is an excellent place to live with a high quality of life and good recreational opportunities.

The survey captures residents’ opinions based on three pillars of a community – community characteristics, governance and participation – and across eight central facets of a community – safety, mobility, natural environment, built environment, economy, recreation and wellness, education and enrichment, and community engagement.

Survey Results (Percentage of Positive Response – Excellent/Good)

Per the City of Englewood Municipal Code, the trimming of trees in the alley is the adjacent property owner’s responsibility:

11–5–5: Property Owner’s Responsibility for Public Right of Way

It shall be the responsibility at the cost of the owner and agent of any property adjacent to any public sidewalk, street, avenue, highway or alley to maintain, trim, spray, remove, plant, prune and protect all plants located upon such public right of way.
WIN-WIN FOR MULTIFAMILY BUILDING TENANTS AND PROPERTY OWNERS!

It’s possible and practical to keep tenants’ homes comfortable and their living costs affordable while adding value to multifamily residential properties for owners. This win-win opportunity is provided by Xcel Energy through Its Multifamily Buildings Program. Eligible buildings have five or more units and are Xcel Energy electric and/or natural gas customers.

Participating buildings will get a free energy assessment of building energy systems and a report outlining the biggest energy-saving opportunities as well as information on rebates available to support those opportunities. But that’s not all—after the assessment, Xcel Energy will schedule a time to return to the building and install free energy-saving products so tenants and owners can start saving right away. These products include LED lamps, LED exit signs, low-flow shower heads, and low-flow faucet aerators in both common spaces and tenant spaces. These products will lower utility bills, including electricity, natural gas, water, and sewage.

Tenants, talk with your building owner about this opportunity to save energy. Building owners or property managers, schedule a free energy assessment by calling 866-451-4467, emailing XcelCoMultifamily@franklinsenergy.com, or completing the program participation form at xcelenergy.com/Multifamily.

WHY COMPOST?

If you’re like most people in Englewood, 26% of the items in your trash bin each week are compostable. Composting is a managed process of decomposition that results in one of the best soil amendments possible. Apartment dwellers can put compostables into a “worm bin” composter or sign up as a member of a community garden where they can compost some materials.

The composting process works well in nature, with a mixture of air, water, microbial life, insects, and “green” and “brown” materials. Greens are high in nitrogen and browns are materials high in carbon. Managing a compost pile requires adjusting the pile to mimic the ideal natural conditions to help the materials break down. Composting creates a wonderful soil amendment, mitigates negative inputs like seed heads, and minimizes the creation of greenhouse gases.

Denver Urban Gardens offers composting classes from May to October, with dates and signups online at dug.org/compost. Join a class at the community garden on Dartmouth and Fox Street on Saturday, September 29, from 9:00 to 11:00 am.

Truth about Living, Dying and Legacy
As far as we know, no one secretly wishes they could spend their last breaths in a cold, noisy, impersonal hospital room. Most people say that given the option, they prefer to die at home amongst family and close friends. Despite this wish, however, few take time to plan or organize this major life event. Make the commitment to bring a loved one or friend and attend this 90-minute panel event featuring expert panelists who will share the most important things you need to know about living, dying and leaving a legacy on your terms. This could quite possibly be one of the most important seminars of the year.
