Recreation
Creativity. Innovation. Entrepreneurship. These words ring true when describing many of the organizations, businesses, programs and people living and working in Englewood today. Innovation is at the heart of any thriving city, and Englewood is fortunate to see it in many forms. Innovation is often stimulated by a search to solve a problem, create a new process to meet a specific need, or invent a product to satisfy a desire. Here are just a few great examples of the creative, problem-solving and entrepreneurial spirits emerging in Englewood.

Englewood is a growing home for medical-related businesses, advanced patient care and technical assistance to support them. Did you know that Swedish Hospital has one of the first and fastest growing surgical robotic programs in the region? Add internationally recognized Craig Hospital to the mix, and the medical district of Englewood is providing state-of-the-art care and hope for those suffering from spinal cord injuries and brain trauma.

If you have ever traveled out of the country, you may have seen the 3D imagery on currencies made with technology developed by Lumenco, an Englewood company focused on creative solutions to prevent counterfeiting. Through their bending of light and color, this company is disrupting security breaches, while also making their mark in the solar industry, LED and 3D advancement, and micro optic technologies.

To learn more about Englewood’s entrepreneurs and opportunities, please contact our community development staff at ecdev@englewoodco.gov to discover resources to help you start or grow your innovative business.

Innovation is at the heart of any thriving city

Speaking of the city, Englewood is also innovating to solve problems and improve systems. We hope to have a fully automated system in 2020 that integrates development with permit activity, utilizing a user-friendly format so anyone can track a permit and quickly see its development status.

In 2018, Council approved the reclamation of methane gas at our South Platte Water Renewal Partners plant as an innovative way to reduce biogas emissions. That system is close to completion and we will soon reduce air pollution while increasing revenue through sales of biogas to Excel Energy. There is so much more to learn about Englewood’s challenges and opportunities for innovation. Stay informed on park improvements, ensuring safety through modernized infrastructure, enhancing our corridors, redevelopment of our CityCenter, short-term rental legislation and trash-hauling challenges through our website, englewoodco.gov.

Let’s keep on innovating in Englewood!

THE FUTURE OF SURGERY RIGHT HERE IN ENGLEWOOD

Swedish Hospital’s innovative approach to health and wellness

Swedish Medical Center is an area leader in the growing world of robotic surgery – a type of procedure that brings together the precision of a robot with the mind of a human.

Don’t picture your stereotypical C-3PO robot – the robotic machines designed for surgery look more like a console with several robotic arms that have different capabilities and functions. The tools are manipulated by the surgeon for incredibly fine-tuned movements with more dexterity and exactness than the human hand allows.

To operate using the robotic system, the surgeon makes tiny incisions in the body and inserts miniaturized instruments and a high-definition three-dimensional camera. Then, using the console and controls, the surgeon manipulates these instruments to perform the operation. The surgeon is in control the entire time, directing the arm almost like a video game.

But unlike most video games, the real-life benefits to robotic surgery are numerous and significant. Patients experience less blood loss and transfusion during surgery, less risk of infection, shorter hospital stays, faster recovery time and less scarring. In summary, they’re able to return to their normal lives and activities faster and with fewer complications.

The first question many ask about robot surgery is whether or not it’s safe. There is no surgical procedure that doesn’t include risk, but all the robotic surgical technology currently in use has been thoroughly tested and vetted, and everyone on the robotic surgery team at Swedish is highly trained to minimize risk.

Swedish uses robotic surgery technology in a number of procedures, including cardiac, gynecologic, spine, thoracic, head, neck and more. As the technology continues to advance, more procedures will become available – stay informed by visiting Swedish Hospital’s website at swedishhospital.com.

DOROTHY HARGROVE NAMED ENGLEWOOD DEPUTY CITY MANAGER

On September 11, Englewood City Manager Shawn Lewis announced the appointment of Dorothy Hargrove as Deputy City Manager.

Hargrove has broad-based experience in the public sector having served as Englewood’s Director of Library Services; Director of Parks, Recreation and Library; and most recently as Interim City Manager.

“Dorothy is respected and admired throughout the organization as a thoughtful and fair-minded leader who sets high expectations for herself and all those around her,” said City Manager Shawn Lewis. She is already serving a critical role in the work of the City Manager’s Office as Interim Deputy City Manager.

“I am pleased to be a part of the Englewood community and honored that Shawn has given me this opportunity,” Hargrove said. “I am looking forward to working with him, our dedicated staff and City Council as we continue to work together to make Englewood one of Colorado’s premier cities,” she added.

A REGIONAL APPROACH TO EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

City and County partner to strengthen disaster response

Disasters don’t confine themselves to city boundaries or zip codes, that’s why the City of Englewood and Arapahoe County have partnered to staff a full-time emergency manager. This new position – which will be staffed by mid-November – will work out of the Arapahoe County Sheriff’s Office (ACSO) but is assigned to directly support the City of Englewood in preparing for, and responding to, an emergency.

“We hope this is a model that will continue to grow,” stated Ashley Cappel, Arapahoe County’s Deputy Emergency Manager. She said that by hiring one new employee, Englewood would receive the support and expertise of all seven members of the County’s emergency management team as well as access to ACSO’s state-of-the-art emergency operations center and other regional resources.

By working together, the City and the County hope to improve the area’s preparedness when an emergency hits. “We can’t prevent all disasters, but we can take steps forward to ensure a safer, more reliable and more cohesive response when something does happen in our community,” explained Cappel.

ENGLEWOOD’S HERB KOETHER LIT THE WAY FOR INNOVATIVE CONSTRUCTION SIGNAGE

You may not recognize the name Herb Koether, but you’d definitely recognize his signs.

Herb was founder and president of the Englewood-based Over Lowe Company, the business credited with inventing the trailer-mounted light-up arrow signs and message boards seen regularly on highways across the United States.

Over Lowe, which was based on Tejon Street, was a leading manufacturer of floodlighting and related equipment for highway construction, and developed lighting solutions for airports, cities and military projects all over the world.

Koether was born in 1913 in Detroit. He moved to Arizona for school but dropped out of college to become a door-to-door salesman for a new General Motors product: refrigerators. Always the entrepreneur, he’d work with families that didn’t yet have an electrical outlet in the kitchen, charging $3-4 to have one installed so they could purchase a fridge.

He married his wife Sarah in 1947 and then moved to Colorado, where Koether became involved in the burgeoning Denver social and political scenes. He was a well-known and loved member of the local Republican Party.

In 1961, Herb’s 14-year-old nephew, Martin Koether, went missing in the yet-to-be-developed Game Creek Bowl in Vail. The boy walked into the ski patrol station the next morning, having survived the night in sub-freezing temperatures by building a snow cave. He was nicknamed the “lost boy” – the namesake of Vail’s Lost Boy Trail.

After the incident, Herb provided Vail ski patrol members with head-mounted searchlights and battery packs – technology he would further develop with Over Lowe.

In addition to the trailer-mounted message boards and arrow signs, Over Lowe invented telescoping floodlights, asphalt cutting saws, and tampers to tamp down the asphalt.

In 1985, Herb sold the patents to the Federal Signal Corporation and retired from the business, though he never stopped serving the community. He was an active volunteer with the Salvation Army, and served on the advisory board for 58 years.
South Platte Water Renewal Partners – the water treatment plant co-owned by Englewood and Littleton – recently won a national water quality challenge by developing a sensor system that works similarly to cruise control for your car. The system is more efficient and reliable, meaning cleaner, safer and more sustainable water for Englewood.

South Platte Water Renewal Partners
recognized as a national leader in innovative wastewater treatment

SPWRP is located in Englewood and serves more than 300,000 people south of Denver. Since the Clean Water Act expanded in the 1970s, the plant has been tasked with continually innovating to maintain and exceed water quality standards.

The Nutrient Sensor Action Challenge was one of a series of challenges conducted by the EPA and four federal partners with the goal of demonstrating new ways local communities can improve their own nutrient management process.

Nutrients in water are essential for plant and animal life, but the overabundance of any one nutrient can cause major problems for a body of water. Too much nitrogen, for example, can cause a lake or stream to suffocate – yes, a body of water needs oxygen to support life, too.

Nitrogen causes the overstimulation of plants and algae. The decomposition of these organisms uses up the dissolved oxygen in the water, causing oxygen-deprived “dead zones” where nothing can live, like what’s happened recently in the Gulf of Mexico.

In an effort to curb this trend, the regulatory agencies are enforcing stricter standards for water quality – putting pressure on treatment facilities to come up with new ways to treat water. SPWRP has accepted these regulations as a challenge to do its part in protecting the environment and the people it serves.

“It’s our job to protect the river and the people that depend on it for drinking water, recreation, agriculture and other uses,” said Blair Corning, deputy director of environmental programs with SPWRP. The water treatment plant relies on sensors to collect data from different points in the treatment process to help monitor flows, chemical additions needed, filters being used, etc. Historically, the monitoring and adjusting has all been manual. With the new technology, they can set the desired total inorganic nitrogen level (TIN) and the system will make adjustments accordingly, taking into consideration levels at all points in the process – like your car auto-adjusting speed on the highway.

This new method of optimization is what earned SPWRP the EPA’s award, along with the $50K prize. The information gained from the challenge will be used by the EPA as a springboard to further reduce excess nutrients in water nation-wide.

As for the prize money, Corning says the SPWRP plans to reinvest it in new technology at the plant. He’s already got phosphorus on his mind, the next nutrient they’ll need to crack down on to meet Regulation 85 – a regulation passed in 2012 to reduce nutrient pollution, set to be evaluated in 2022.

Corning has been in the industry for 22 years, but said he’s seen more technology improvements in the last few years than he had throughout the entire first half of his career. And that trend is showing no signs of slowing. The plant already has a pilot project planned with Colorado School of Mines to investigate the feasibility of new treatment technology, and is looking into more university partnerships in the future.

“We’re positioning ourselves as a leader in evaluating tech,” he said. “We’re partnering with universities to help take a closer look at new technologies and help determine whether they are actually effective or efficient.”

If you’re interested in learning more about the water treatment process or touring the facility, visit its website at spwaterrenewalpartners.org.
Small Business Saturday is Nov. 30

“Shop local” isn’t just a fun marketing phrase, but a real way you can use your dollars to support the Englewood community while stewarding the environment.

We talked with several of our local experts, including Economic Development Manager Darren Hollingsworth and Executive Director of the Englewood Chamber of Commerce David Carroll, about the benefits of shopping local. Here’s what they said:

Supporting local businesses keeps resources in the community. Local businesses are more likely to use other local businesses, including banks, service providers, farms, etc. According to the Small Business Association, for every $100 you spend at a local business, $68 will stay in the community (versus $43 when you shop at a national chain).

Local businesses are a big part of what makes Englewood, Englewood. Local businesses have more freedom to be uniquely tailored to individual communities, and offer options based on knowing their customers – the families of Englewood – better than anyone else. They are what keep an area from becoming a cookie-cutter city, which also helps to attract new residents and visitors.

Utilizing local businesses and services creates local jobs. Most Englewood businesses are owned and operated by Englewood residents – your friends and neighbors.

Shopping local is better for the environment. Foods and goods purchased locally have a much smaller carbon footprint due to the reduced transportation requirements.

Local businesses are a big part of what makes Englewood, Englewood. Need some ideas for ways to get started? Check out this list from the Chamber of Commerce:

- Try the menu at a local restaurant for lunch or dinner.
- Join a local gym or take classes at an independent fitness studio.
- Purchase a birthday present at a local gift shop.
- Visit a local nursery or hardware store for your lawn and garden needs.
- Get your car serviced by a neighborhood mechanic.
- Buy the ingredients for your next family meal at a local market or bakery.

To support this cause and encourage keeping gift dollars in the local economy, the city will be hosting a Small Business Saturday event on November 30. Check the city website for details to come.

Using Light to Defeat the Dark Web

Englewood-based Lumenco develops anti-counterfeiting technology to fight fakes worldwide

Most people associate the word “counterfeit” with currency or street vendors, but in reality, it’s a growing global problem negatively impacting consumers, businesses and the wider economy – and it cost more than $300 billion last year alone.

Luckily, companies like Englewood-based Lumenco have developed anti-counterfeit technology that helps consumers immediately recognize a fake.

Lumenco, founded by Mark Raymond and Hector Porras in 2012, is a global leader in the broad field of “light management” – capturing, bending and moving light. The company designs and develops micro lenses, micro mirrors and optical devices used in a broad range of applications, from anti-counterfeiting for IDs and currency, to solar power arrays with improved efficiency.

The Internet has made it easier than ever to buy and sell counterfeit goods, from knockoff phone chargers to dangerous fake pharmaceutical drugs. The recent vaping deaths have even been linked to illicit products purchased online. This is why Lumenco is launching a new business dedicated to helping brands differentiate themselves from fakes with tiny mirrors custom programmed to produce a particular effect. These mirrors can be manufactured right into the product or packaging, where it’s easy to recognize and impossible to counterfeit.

This is only the tip of the Lumenco iceberg. When you design intellectual property and your customers are governments, well-known Silicon Valley companies and global organizations dealing with sensitive information, you can’t talk very openly about your entire business model. But it is safe to say that innovation on a global scale is happening right here in Englewood – and that’s something that can make us all proud.
2020 CITY BUDGET OVERVIEW

The City of Englewood begins planning for next year's budget nearly twelve months before the next year even begins. There are many meetings among staff and presentations to City Council that help dial in the city's financials for the coming year.

This year's discussions, in preparation for the 2020 budget, included detailed background information related to proposed department priorities. Through these discussions, staff was able to evaluate priorities and make necessary budget reductions.

General fund revenue is estimated to grow in 2020 by 3.9% over current 2019 estimates, which is great news for the community. The 2020 budget proposes no additional taxes or fees, except for an increase in sanitary sewer rates of 7%. This fee increase is necessary to support both the operations and maintenance of the sanitary sewer collection system and Englewood's share in the South Platte Water Renewal Partners (SPWRP) facility and to begin addressing the need for necessary infrastructure improvements for the operations of the SPWRP and the sanitary sewer collection system.

EXPENDITURES

TOTAL CITY BUDGET: $120,274,700

2020 general fund expenditures and revenues are in balance

General Fund: $53,089,689 (44.3% of total city budget)

- Supports a variety of services from public safety to parks and recreation
- Capital Project Funds: $10,334,009 (8.6% of total city budget)
  - Supports general government capital projects
  - Amount includes $7,274,700 of new capital project requests
- Enterprise Funds: $39,154,797 (32.6% of total city budget)
  - Includes utilities enterprise funds and the Broken Tee Golf Course
- The sanitary sewer fund supports approximately 50%, or $5,529,000, of the South Platte Water Renewal Partners capital expenditures ($11,058,000) in a 50/50 joint venture with the City of Littleton

NEW BUDGET REQUESTS FOR 2020

If the budget is approved, overall expenditures will increase by 1.5%, in line with the regional Colorado Price Index (CPI) of 2.2%. The proposed 2020 budget includes the following requests, many of which address needs expressed by the community:

- Emergency management partnership with Arapahoe County – $115K
- Crisis intervention co-responder services – $104K
- Neighborhood resource coordinator – $85K
- Wayfinding/signage and placemaking design manual – $50K
- Homeless camp abatement – $30K
- CityCenter redevelopment – $100K
- Critical public work positions
  (asset management, project management) – $250K
- Utility billing system – $285K
- Human resources information system – $300K

NEW CAPITAL PROJECT REQUESTS FOR 2020

- Broadway-US 285 interchange reconstruction – $1.1M
- Dartmouth bridge (additional funding) – $600K
- IT projects – $1.05M
  (including $400K for computers and hardware, and $250K for fiber network)
- Pavement maintenance – $1.7M
- Alley improvements – $420K

The general fund budget proposes reserves of 33.04%, well above the 16.7% of general fund operating revenue set as a baseline reserve as established by Council. While the city's overall fiscal condition is healthy, the need for additional resources to improve aging infrastructure, including the storm water drainage system, remains a continuing challenge.

FLO BRINGS COMFORT – AND TAIL WAGS – TO RESIDENTS IN NEED

Meet Florentine, one of the newest members of the Englewood Police Department. Flo is a 3-year-old Labrador retriever who proudly works in the victim assistance program alongside her handler, Nancy Wenig.

Flo is a facility service dog who was raised and trained by Canine Companions for Independence (CCI), a nonprofit organization that enhances the lives of people with disabilities by providing highly trained assistance dogs at no cost to the recipient.

Nancy says that Flo has been an amazing addition to the police department, providing comfort and love to victims in our community dealing with challenges such as domestic violence or assault, as well as to the staff.

Flo spends her working hours doing a variety of activities such as attending court with victims while they testify, cuddling with children during child forensic interviews, respectfully attending law enforcement memorials and participating in various activities with other City of Englewood departments.

When she’s off the clock, Flo enjoys her home life with Nancy and her family. Daily training is a must in order to maintain a routine and keep Flo on her best behavior.

THE FRIENDS OF ENGLEWOOD PARKS NEEDS YOUR HELP!

The Friends of Englewood Parks is a grassroots, citizen-driven organization created to support Englewood in securing sustainable funding to improve our parks. The organization’s goal is to help the city acquire the resources needed to fulfill the 2017 Englewood Parks and Recreation Master Plan.

We did it! After months of meetings, writing and research, the city was thrilled to receive a $500,000 grant for Romans Park tennis and playground improvements from Arapahoe County Open Space.

The two primary goals for this $700,000 project included installing three brand new United States Tennis Association (USTA) courts for all ages, and playground area renovations, including a new layout.

The playground improvements will include new ADA accessible equipment for 2- to 5-year-olds and 5- to 12-year-olds. These play areas will be installed side by side for convenience and safety and include a 6-foot concrete sidewalk to access the two new play pits.

The Romans Park renovation project aims to improve community resources for the adjacent neighborhoods and surrounding community. This park provides important recreational, fitness, and outdoor benefits for an estimated 15,000 annual users including residents and guests.

The city is proud that this project includes sustainable equipment and recycled materials and fully complies with ADA accessibility guidelines.

Construction is expected to begin in March 2020 with a completion date of September 2020.

Since 2005, Arapahoe County Open Spaces has distributed more than $36 million in grants in support of 206 open space, park and trail projects throughout the county.
DON’T WAIT UNTIL IT MELTS!
Revised Snow and Ice Ordinance

Before the flakes fly this winter, be aware of your responsibilities as a citizen – property owner, business owner, and rental tenant – for snow and ice removal and take note of recent changes to Englewood’s removal of snow and ice ordinance.

What Changed?
The new ordinance doubles the amount of time for property occupants – from 12 to 24 hours – to remove snow and ice from sidewalks. This recent Council action recognizes the impermanent nature of snow and ice and lowers the potential fine amount.

Occupants will receive one “notice of violation” per snow season (October 1 – May 31). Occupants then have 24 hours to remove the snow and ice or face a potential fine between $50 – $500.

Need Help?
Volunteers of America offers a “Snow Buddies” program for those 60 and older in Arapahoe County. Visit voacolorado.org/volunteer-opportunities/snow-buddies or call 303-297-0408 to sign up. Want to volunteer to help seniors in your area? Contact Tiffany Harris at 303-297-0408 x13130.

NEW LIBRARY HOURS
COMING IN 2020

In order to better meet the needs of our community, the Englewood Public Library will be modifying its operating hours effective January 6, 2020. The new hours will be:

M – Th: 9:30 AM – 7:30 PM
F – Sa: 9:30 AM – 5:00 PM
Su: noon – 5:00 PM

We look forward to continuing to provide exceptional library services to Englewood!

PARK IT!
Parking can be a bone of contention for many neighborhoods, especially for streets with businesses that are required to obtain parking permits for their staff. The general rules below include highlights of Englewood’s Municipal Code for parking on the street and private property. Avoid a fine up to $100 or having your vehicle impounded by following these rules:

PARKING “DOs”:
• Only park operable “street legal” vehicles with current registration/plates
• Park with the flow of traffic
• Park within 12” of the curb
• Park more than 5’ away from either side of a private driveway
• Park more than 30’ away from a stop sign or other traffic control device
• Park at least 2’ from other vehicles

For a complete list of applicable parking rules, visit the city’s website at englewoodco.gov and search “parking control.” For further parking related questions, call 303-763-6836. CODE QUESTIONS? Visit englewoodco.gov or text 720-477-4390.

CODE VIOLATION COMPLAINT? Call 303-762-2335, email codeenforcement@englewoodco.gov, or submit a service request online.

DEVELOPING ENGLEWOOD: BE IN THE KNOW

Curious about what’s being developed in Englewood? Join the conversation and understand how we’re thoughtfully developing our growing community through our helpful interactive development map and upcoming Citizens Planning School.

Using Our Interactive Development Map
To access the map, visit the city’s website. The map is currently listed under “Maps and More” under the City Services tab. Here, you’ll find all active development and land use applications including projects that are pending and approved.

Click on a highlighted property for a brief description of the project. You’ll also find a case number to request more information from the Community Development Department. You can also use this number to review the plans or application in person.

To better serve residents of Englewood, the map will continue to evolve as new capabilities are explored and eventually added.

More Helpful Information
Building blocks are based on what’s allowed to be developed in that area, and are referred to as a “zoning designation.” Designations are specified for residences, businesses, industrial use, or a combination of those uses, called mixed use. You can learn more about how your property or neighborhood is zoned by accessing the city’s interactive zoning map. You’ll find this tool in the Zoning section of the Community Development Department website.

Understanding Land Use and Development “Speak”
You have a vested interest in what’s being built or planned in your neighborhood but may not know the many confusing terms and acronyms frequently used in the world of planning, land use, and development. This sounds like you, you’re a perfect candidate for Englewood’s upcoming Citizens Planning School! The next session of the school will start in mid-March and registration will open by January.

This multi-week school seeks to explore Englewood’s rich development history and how our built environment has evolved and continues to change. Acronyms such as “short-term rental” (STR), “accessory dwelling unit” (ADU), “planned unit development” (PUD) and other jargon-esque language will be explained in a high-level, easy-to-understand and engaging format.

BOOK RECOMMENDATION

The Naturals
by Jennifer Lynn Barnes
Seventeen-year-old Cassie is a natural at reading people. Piecing together the tiniest details, she can tell you who you are and what you want. But, it’s not a skill that she’s ever taken seriously. That is, until the FBI come knocking: they’ve begun a classified program that uses exceptional teenagers to crack infamous cold cases, and they need Cassie. What Cassie doesn’t realize is that there’s more at risk than a few unsolved homicides. Soon, it becomes clear that no one in the Naturals program is what they seem. And when a new killer strikes, danger looms close. Caught in a lethal game of cat and mouse with a killer, the Naturals are going to have to use all of their gifts just to survive.

Corinne, the Teen Librarian’s Review:
What a great book! This one really kept me on the edge of my seat, and it has a plot twist that you definitely don’t see coming! If you are a fan of Criminal Minds or The Mentalist, this is definitely your book. I have always been fascinated by forensic science and criminal profiling, and this book has great descriptions of both! Plus, with three more books in the series, how can you not get hooked?

THE JASON PARK PLAYGROUND IS OPEN!

Thanks to a generous grant from the Arapahoe County Open Space Program and the planning efforts of the Parks Department, construction of the new playground is complete.

The new playground includes a play area for 2 – 5 years of age and a play area for 5 – 12 years of age. All of the “sparkling” new play equipment incorporates some sort of element to promote climbing, sliding, spinning, balancing and swinging. Just north of the playground, children of all ages can “dig in” to the new sandbox building their next creation.

Complementing the play area, the landscape and pathways are enhanced for safety and aesthetics. This park project includes the repurposing of prior park structures. Look around and you just might spot parts of an original playground Roundabout!
