Happy 2020! In ushering in the new year, I’d like to highlight just a few of our City accomplishments from 2019:

New City Manager: Hired in August, Shawn Lewis is like the CEO of our City, managing all City departments. Shawn is a very open, thoughtful and creative leader. Englewood is fortunate to have him. Hope you meet Shawn in 2020!

City Clerk’s Office: Conducted redistricting based on growth; coordinated a successful November election; handled over 290 open records requests; with IT, coordinated conversion of live-streaming Council meetings to YouTube (yes…you can now watch from home)!

Parks and Rec: Jason Park Playground project funded by Arapahoe County Open Space grant; secured funding for Phase 1 of Romans Park project; hosted 98,000 guests at Pirates Cove, 240,000 visits to the Rec Center, 238,000 library visits and 90,000 Malley Center visits.

Human Resources: Negotiated new benefits package providing excellent care for employees at significant savings; implemented new employee-driven program for leadership development; conducted safety training that significantly decreased worker’s compensation claims.

Police: Opened the new 21st century police building thanks to you, the voters, who agreed to working with many of you for the good of Englewood!

Utilities: Completed Oxford Ave. sinkhole repair; replaced 28 residential water service lines; delivered 5.4 million gallons of safe drinking water/day; replaced 350 water meters/ transmission units; initiated Water and Sewer Master Plan, and Water and Sewer Rate Study (both to be completed in 2020).

Public Works: Managed and opened the Police Headquarters Building mentioned above; secured $10.8 million in federal transportation funding (DRCOG); completed flood-prone lines; delivered 5.4 million gallons of safe drinking water/day; replaced 350 water meters/ transmission units; initiated Water and Sewer Master Plan, and Water and Sewer Rate Study (both to be completed in 2020).

Civic Center: 240,000 visits to the Rec Center, 238,000 library visits and 90,000 Malley Center visits.

Economic Development

Englewood’s underground infrastructure is aging, and we need to be proactive about maintaining and replacing water, sewer, and stormwater pipes. Studies are currently underway so we can develop a long-term plan for these systems. But infrastructure maintenance will require continued vigilance.

Our local economy depends on having a productive business environment. We have a strong chamber of commerce, a thriving network of relationships throughout the business community, and our Economic Development Department is actively working to help our small businesses. City Council is currently evaluating the possibility of forming a Downtown Development Authority, which will strengthen our central business district. Additionally, we will be looking at opportunities for redevelopment around the light rail station.

Homelessness is an ongoing challenge throughout the metro area. Our Police Department is working with other local agencies to respond holistically to the challenges that come with homelessness, and our non-profits and churches are working collaboratively to get our homeless neighbors off the streets. I am looking forward to the broader policy discussion and continued efforts to partner with our surrounding communities.

Englewood has a strong future, but our best path forward lies in collaboration and broad community participation. I look forward to working with many of you for the good of Englewood!

COUNCIL MEMBER, DISTRICT 3

As one of your newest members of City Council, I’d like to introduce myself. My wife and I have lived in Englewood for 11 years and are raising our four daughters here. We are both passionate about building a strong neighborhood and community. I believe that a culture of collaboration is foundational to a vibrant community. This collaborative spirit is alive and well in Englewood, and I look forward to working with council members, City staff, as well as businesses and non-profits to build a thriving City even as we face unique challenges.

Englewood’s underground infrastructure is aging, and we need to be proactive about maintaining and replacing water, sewer, and stormwater pipes. Studies are currently underway so we can develop a long-term plan for these systems. But infrastructure maintenance will require continued vigilance.

Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to serve the City of Englewood as an At Large Council Member; I am truly honored.

I am looking forward to working to make Englewood a place that is affordable for working families, that has economic opportunities for our residents and business owners, and that values our communities. I am proud of the work that we have already accomplished in just the few months that this City Council has held office, and I am excited about the good work that I know we will do in the months and years to come.

But, all of that is only possible with the input and the participation of our communities. I want to meet you, talk with you and hear about the issues that you find most pressing. Also, I would love to see you in at least one of our Council meetings this year. I understand that not everyone can make it to a Council meeting on a Monday night, so I will be holding monthly town hall meetings on the 3rd Saturday of each month in local Englewood establishments. I invite all of you to come and meet with me, to talk with me, and to work with me collaboratively to make Englewood the best city it can be. I love this City, and I want to see it thrive.

Congratulations to Englewood City Council Member Cheryl Wink! She has been appointed to the National League of Cities (NLC) 2020 Energy, Environment and Natural federal advocacy committee. This committee has the lead responsibility for developing NLC’s federal policy positions on issues involving air quality, water quality, energy policy, national wetlands policy, noise control and solid and hazardous waste management.

As a committee member, Wink is anticipated to play a key role in shaping NLC’s policy positions and advocate on behalf of America’s cities and towns before Congress, with the administration and at home.
BUILDING A CONNECTED COMMUNITY

New City program intends to bring neighbors together

We all want to feel like we’re part of something bigger than ourselves, to have a place we call home that connects us to the community and the people around us. That’s the goal of the City’s new Neighborhood Resources Program, centered on creating neighborhood groups that bring neighbors together to create a sense of belonging to each other, the neighborhood and the community of Englewood.

Englewood is unique in that it was almost entirely developed before the era of homeowner’s associations (HOAs) which often identify distinct, connected neighborhoods. As our population has grown and the bonds that have traditionally connected us—civic organizations, faith communities, PTAs, etc.—have declined, this can lead to a sense of disconnectedness among residents toward their community and the local government decision-making process.

Meet Madeline

Madeline Hinkfuss is the City’s new neighborhood resources coordinator. Her goal is to help facilitate the organization of new neighborhood groups based on the needs and wants of various areas of the community. “I’m excited about helping neighborhoods in Englewood connect to one another and their community,” Hinkfuss said. “This effort is going to take a lot of volunteers and a lot of work, but we’re committed to providing neighborhood ambassadors with the resources to be successful.”

It’s science

Creating connections in our daily lives has proven benefits. Studies show that having a sense of belonging improves mental and physical health. Additionally, connectedness among a neighborhood can reduce crime, improve property maintenance, reduce recovery time after natural disasters and lead to stronger advocacy for needed improvements such as parks or alley maintenance.

Get involved

The plan is still developing and we need your help! Specifically, we need volunteers to serve as neighborhood group leaders, ambassadors, block captains and organizational partners that will help identify and establish neighborhoods and neighborhood groups where they don’t already exist. Visit englewoodco.gov/neighborhoods for more information and to sign up today!

ENGLEWOOD’S MOUNTAIN VIEW GOLF COURSE

Not a Cinderella Story

Englewood native Norman “Bud” McLellan was a true visionary. He was an avid golfer and always dreamt of opening his own range. He came across some property off the beaten path that was being used as a dump for construction materials and approached the City about leasing it.

According to Bud’s son (and former pro golfer) Jim McLellan, they laughed, questioned his sanity, and then agreed. Bud and his family spent the next year hauling away trash and transforming the land into something totally new.

The Mountain View Golf Club—named for the magnificent mountain vistas—opened its doors as Englewood’s first driving range in 1948 and quickly became a success. It was one of the first ranges to install lighting and include evening hours, which attracted golfers from all over, including famous athletes like Olympian Babe Zaharias and lightweight boxing champion George Manley. However, the majority of the facility’s regulars were Englewood residents and friends of Bud’s.

This success paved the way for other establishments to come to the area, including a beloved burger joint, park, tennis courts and a shopping center. Bud was able to expand his range to include a golf course and miniature golf course that was listed among the top 10 courses throughout the country.

Bud became a local hero both on and off the course. He dedicated nearly all of his time serving the people of Englewood as a volunteer fire chief and mayor.

“`My dad was my hero, my idol,” said Jim. “I look up to him more everyday. What he did was really against all odds.”

Everything changed in 1962 when lung cancer took Bud’s life. While the family was still mourning his death, they were approached by developer Gerri Von Frellick who convinced them to close the club.

Von Frellick’s Cinderella City shopping center opened its doors to the public a few years later.

The McLellan family knew their 21 acres like the back of their hand—Jim said you can take him anywhere on the property and he could tell you exactly what was below him, including two waterways that flowed underground. Jim does not believe the mall’s developer knew about this aspect of the land when he built the giant mall.

While the Mountain View Golf Club is long gone, McLellan’s name lives on. The McLellan Reservation, named in his honor, stores water for residents of Englewood to this day.

Residents of Englewood, Littleton and other nearby communities can breathe easy knowing that another renewable energy source exists in their backyard.

A flame burning waste gases at South Platte Water Renewal Partners (SPWRP) was finally extinguished in late October, a significant milestone for the Englewood-based wastewater treatment plant: capturing and generating Renewable Natural Gas.

Why Renewable Natural Gas?

Renewable Natural Gas, or RNG for short, is gaining traction as a renewable energy source. Commonly referred to as “biogas,” RNG helps reduce greenhouse gas emissions and puts more money back in the community’s pocket—in the case of South Platte Water Renewal Partners, by selling the captured gas back to Xcel Energy.

To many organizations in the energy industry, biogas is seen as low-hanging fruit. South Platte Water Renewal Partners’ goal was to decrease its carbon footprint while also cutting down on operating costs. This goal is included as part of the City of Englewood’s Energy Action Plan, an initiative aiming to reduce energy usage one percent per year through 2030.

Leading Colorado’s Biogas Charge

The treatment facility began to achieve its goal with the full implementation of its $7.8 million Biogas Recovery Facility in November, about $200,000 under budget.

According to a 2019 market study of wastewater utilities by the Colorado Energy Office, SPWRP is the largest RNG-producing facility in the state.

"We provide a cleaner and safer environment for our communities and generate revenue through the sale of the gas and renewable energy credits," said Chong Woo, Deputy Director of Engineering for SPWRP.

South Platte Water Renewal Partners is the first RNG-producing facility in Colorado to use a Direct Pipeline Injection gas recovery model. They’re also the first facility to partner with Xcel Energy to utilize a Direct Pipeline Injection in the eight states Xcel Energy services.

Fewer Emissions, More Money: A Win–Win

The facility will also further Xcel Energy’s goal to deliver 100% carbon-free electricity by 2050. In turn, the wastewater treatment organization will receive annual revenue from sales to Xcel Energy and renewable energy credits from the EPA. The revenue will go to Littleton and Englewood’s sewer funds and will help offset annual operating expenses for South Platte Water Renewal Partners.

"The gas recovery facility is a win-win for the cities of Englewood and Littleton by improving the health of our communities and generating revenue," Woo said. “My hope is that this project serves as an example for the state of Colorado, but also for the nation.”

MEET OUR NEWEST ENGLEWOOD EMPLOYEES!

We’re pleased to introduce you to three new staff members joining our City organization! While each individual serves in different roles, each brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to our organization to help make Englewood an even better community.

Lisa Clay, Emergency Management Coordinator

In partnership with Arapahoe County, Lisa Clay has been hired as the City’s new Emergency Management Coordinator. Lisa will oversee day-to-day emergency preparedness operations, but will also easily fit within the larger County team of seven in the instance of an emergency.

Clay comes to the City with experience creating FEMA-approved local hazard mitigation plans with several Denver area communities. Her first priority project with the City is to update the Englewood Emergency Operations Plan.

Ronda Henger, Director of Human Resources

Human resources staff are the backbone of any organization, especially with the right leadership in place. Ronda Henger, Englewood’s new Director of Human Resources, is no stranger to the demands the position requires and hopes to continue to move her department in the right direction. She comes to the City with 18 years of experience, most recently serving in a similar role with PDC Energy.

“I believe my approach to human resources will effectively serve the City as I work not only as a director, but as an employee. My goal is to continue improving the successful department,” said Henger.

Christina Underhill, Director of Parks, Recreation and Library Services

Our public spaces are a true community asset. Christina Underhill, the newly appointed Director of Parks, Recreation and Library Services, hopes to continue to provide the leadership needed to make our parks, recreation centers and library even better. She joins the team with 20 years in the field, most recently as the Assistant Director of Parks, Recreation and Libraries for the City of Avondale, Arizona.

“I am thrilled to be coming to work for the City of Englewood, whose focus has always been about improving the quality of life for its citizens,” Underhill said. “The City has already established an amazing public library and parks and recreation department, and I look forward to providing the leadership needed to take them to even greater heights,” she added.

SENIOR CONNECTIONS

New Englewood senior living facility offers community and connection for older adults

Research has shown time and again that a strong sense of community is one of the number one indicators of quality of life in older adults. Yet, many seniors suffer from isolation, especially if they lose the ability to drive, have health issues or rely on assistance to get around.

“Atria Senior Living comes in with locations all over the world, Atria found the need to focus on providing seniors with connections and a sense of belonging to their communities. In late January, they’ll be opening a brand new facility in Englewood.

“We’re focused on how we can provide an environment where older adults can grow, evolve, learn and contribute. We do provide care, but the focus is on building a community,” said Marta Burton, the community sales director.

Atria’s residents will all have access to housekeeping services, 24-hour staff, scheduled transportation, educational, social and cultural opportunities and entertainment; as well as dining services offering chef-prepared, made-from-scratch meals and full table service.

“For those folks who are looking for something high quality and modern, more contemporary, with a big focus on community and connection, we’re a great fit,” Burton said. “We’re also very culinary forward.”

Atria offers different levels of care based on need—many of its residents are independent, but they also have a full memory care program for those with Alzheimer’s or other forms of dementia.

Burton sees herself as a community builder, and is excited about the opportunity for Atria to integrate with the City and find more ways for Englewood’s older adults to thrive.

COMMUNITY HIGHLIGHTS

LET’S TALK ABOUT DOWNTOWN ENGLEWOOD

In communities across the country, people are taking a new look at their downtown areas.

Residents desire deeper connections to the heart of their community. What would that entail? It starts with more places to live, shop and socialize as well as more ways to get around. Employers look for more centrally located offices with light rail access to larger cities.

That’s why the City of Englewood, with the Greater Englewood Chamber of Commerce, kicked off the “Downtown Matters” planning initiative in January after preliminary discussions with business leaders last fall.

“A vibrant downtown is a key indicator of a healthy community; it’s our heritage and a reflection of who we are,” said Shawn Lewis, Englewood’s City Manager.

The 11-month process will involve commercial property and business owners as well as the broader community to create a downtown plan for Englewood that includes South Broadway, the Englewood CityCenter and areas around Craig Hospital and Swedish Medical Center. The plan will also look at implementation and funding tools, such as a Downtown Development Authority. The process will be led by Denver-based DIG Studio, an urban planning and design firm; and Progressive Urban Management Associates, a national leader in downtown and community development.

For more information, please visit Englewoodco.gov/downtownmatters.

ENGLEWOOD IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS

We’re excited to announce that several new businesses will be opening locations in downtown Englewood this year, bringing more than 100 new primary jobs to the area and filling previously vacant office spaces.

CORE Consultants, a Colorado-based professional services firm offering civil engineering, natural resources, land surveying, and development services, was looking for options to expand out of its office its central location and bringing more jobs to the area.

HOW ABOUT A LITTLE HELP AROUND THE HOUSE?

Home repair and improvement program offers assistance to Englewood residents.

Even the most basic home repairs can quickly turn costly. To help mitigate these costs, Englewood’s City Council approved the Home Repair and Improvement Program which offers a grant, forgivable loan, deferred loan, or a loan with monthly payments, depending on the homeowner’s income.

To be eligible for the program, the applicant’s income must not exceed 100% of the area medium income. Applicants are limited to applying every five years, and any previous loan must be paid in full.

For more information or to apply, contact the City at commdev@englewoodco.gov.

HOW DOES ENGLEWOOD PLAN FOR THE FUTURE?

Join the Citizens Planning School to find out.

Through a fun, interactive and dynamic program, Englewood offers residents a background in the fundamentals of city planning as part of the City’s Citizens Planning School (CPS).

CPS is aimed at engaging Englewood residents, neighborhood leaders, and future board and commission members on the important topic of how the community develops. The program provides residents and business owners with the opportunity to learn about the city planning process and to participate in discussions about how city planning helps shape our community.

Sessions are led by subject matter experts who will present on a variety of planning subjects.

Classes begin March 12, 2020, and attendees will meet weekly for six weeks. Register now at englewoodco.gov/government/city-departments/citizens-planning-school or email commdev@englewoodco.gov by the February 28 deadline.

SPRING INTO PROPERTY MAINTENANCE

Springtime brings new growth as well as a set of new outdoor maintenance challenges for residents. Grass and weeds don’t hesitate to take advantage of our spring moisture and pop up quickly. At the same time, this is historically when we get our heaviest snowfall. It can be difficult to maintain your yard between snowstorms and shovel in a timely manner.

However, the City’s code requires that grass and weeds be kept shorter than 6 inches and that snow is cleared from public walks within 24 hours of snow stopping. Both regulations are intended to help keep residents safe and preserve the beauty of our neighborhoods.

Need Help? Offer Help!

If you are aware of a neighbor that may need help shoveling snow, reach out and offer assistance.

The City can also help get neighbors connected to each other. Contact the Malley Recreation Center at 303-762-2660 to join the list of helpers or to request assistance.

To report a code violation, contact Englewood Code Enforcement by submitting a service request online at englewoodco.gov.

A NEW APPROACH TO CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Using restorative justice to build a stronger community

In December, City leaders met with administrators from Englewood Schools and the Longmont Community Justice Partnership to explore ways restorative justice efforts are succeeding on the Front Range and around the nation. These efforts focus on reducing jail overcrowding, decreasing recidivism (the tendency of a criminal to repeat their offense) and giving victims an active role in the process.

Restorative justice is an approach to justice in which one of the responses to a crime is to organize a meeting between the victim and the offender. The goal is to share their experience, discuss the harm that occurred and create a consensus for monitored reparations.

Englewood Schools currently uses this approach to address both behavioral problems and minor offenses committed by students within the schools. “Through restorative practices, students build key life skills such as empathy, responsibility and the ability to solve problems,” said Englewood Schools Superintendent Wendy Rubin.

The City sees an opportunity to implement a similar restorative justice program in the larger Englewood community as well.

If you would like more information about this effort or to get involved, contact Deputy Police Chief Sam Watson at swatson@englewoodco.gov.

FOUR ENERGY-EFFICIENCY TIPS TO SAVE YOU MONEY

1. CAULK AROUND DRAFTY WINDOWS: A caulking gun and a tube of builder’s caulk costs less than $10 but can make a big difference when the cold wind blows. Caulking around the outside of old windows reduces the amount of cold air that easily gets inside.

2. USE LED LIGHT BULBS: Replacing incandescent light bulbs with LED lights can significantly reduce your monthly energy costs. That’s savings that really adds up! LED bulbs are more expensive, but they last much longer and don’t contaminate your home or trash with mercury if they break.

3. REPLACE APPLIANCES WITH ENERGY-EFFICIENT MODELS: When it’s time to replace an old appliance, use the most energy-efficient model you can afford.

4. INSTALL INSULATION: Many older homes lack insulation. Insulation serves as a warming blanket for your home and can save you money over time.

If these tips seem a little daunting, you may qualify for Arapahoe County’s free Weatherization Services. Contact them to request an application, or find more information on their website at arapahoegov.com, call 303-636-1982 or email staff at weatherization@arapahoegov.com.

Nineteen local families benefit from Englewood’s Santa Cops program

On December 17, nineteen children and their families were given the opportunity to shop for toys and necessities alongside Englewood police officers during the annual Santa Cops event at Walmart.

More than just a shopping spree, the Englewood Police Department sees this event as a great opportunity to connect with the community and build relationships with children and families who call Englewood home.

“This is an amazing event,” explained Officer Brian Taylor. “I have been participating since we started the program in 2010. It is great knowing that deserving kids and families are able to have a Christmas, and that would not be possible without the Santa Cops program”.

Police interactions often occur under difficult situations, but the Santa Cops event is just one example where officers gets to work closely with the community in a fun way and give back to those in need.

Nominations come from local school personnel and police employees. The Englewood Police Department then receives a grant from Walmart, which covers the cost of the items purchased at their store.

Book Recommendations:

Clockwork Angel
by Cassandra Clare

> When sixteen-year-old Tessa Gray crosses the ocean to find her brother, her destination is England, the time is the reign of Queen Victoria, and something terrifying is waiting for her in London’s Downworld, where vampires, warlocks and other supernatural folk stalk the gaslit streets. Only the Shadowhunters, warriors dedicated to ridding the world of demons, keep order amidst the chaos.

Review by Riona, Teen Advisory Board Member

Clockwork Angel is the first in an amazing trilogy by bestselling author Cassandra Clare. It is the book that pulled me into the genre of YA fantasy. I’d recommend it to any teen looking for an exciting read, though it does contain potentially triggering elements such as torture. The story takes place in 19th century London and focuses on underground paranormal groups such as the Shadowhunters or the Downworlders. It explores several interesting locations within the city. The characters are all likable, and even the ones that aren’t human, feel like they could be. There is a love triangle, however, it’s very well written and flows naturally with the plot instead of feeling crammed in. So if you’re looking for a darker fantasy read, maybe give this one a try if you haven’t already.

CENSUS DAY – APRIL 1, 2020
The future of our community depends on you!

FIVE REASONS TO TAKE THE CENSUS

1. It determines how many seats each state gets in the U.S. House of Representatives.

2. Data collected is used to inform decisions on funding for roads, schools, hospitals, emergency response services and more!

3. The City of Englewood could lose funding if Census data doesn’t accurately represent the city’s population size.

4. It’s quick, safe and easy! Beginning in March, households can go online to complete the 2020 U.S Census.

5. It creates job opportunities. Thousands of Census workers are needed to ensure an accurate count.

Visit 2020Census.gov to learn more.
