City Seeks Citizens to Serve on an Organized Trash Collection Committee

The Englewood City Council is soliciting citizens to participate in a committee related to organized trash collection. Several boards and commissions have expressed interest in exploring options for how garbage and recycling service is provided in the community.

Currently, each property contracts with an independent firm for trash service. In an organized collection system, the City would contract with one vendor to provide service to all residential properties in Englewood. The committee will meet approximately three to five times between late March and late May. The objective is to evaluate the results of proposals received by various waste haulers and make recommendations to the City Council on next steps in the process.

Apply today at englewoodco.gov/talking-trash.